

Supporting You in Scotland

Supporting You in Scotland, also known as SYI Scotland, provides innovative and creative support to individuals with learning disabilities, autism and/or mental illnesses to live the lives they want and to achieve their goals.

SYI Scotland works with individuals who require support and assistance to live as independently as possible whether this is providing support in people's own homes or via our outreach services. The level of support can range from a couple of hours per week to 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

We provide support to individuals who are funded directly by the Local Authority, have a direct payment or individual budget, and some people buy in support privately.

Our specialist services

Amongst the services available at SYI Scotland are:

- Finances and economic wellbeing including budgeting and debt management
- Maintaining accommodation
- Employment, volunteering, education and training
- Relationships with family and friends
- Leisure, cultural and faith activities
- Developing self-confidence and community involvement
- Mental and emotional health
- Physical health including exercise and healthy eating
- Drug or alcohol issues
- Dealing with offending issues
- Domestic and living skills including cooking, shopping and public transport
- Moving to independent accommodation

Our approach to support

We are flexible and person-centred in our approach, believing that no two people will have the same support needs, goals or aspirations and knowing, therefore everyone's support will be different.

Our person-centred support plans are developed in partnership with the people we support and others who are important to them. We always ensure that the process is meaningful and that the person we support has real opportunities to direct the process and state their wishes.

While we are able to support people with a wide range of learning disabilities, we have particular expertise in supporting individuals with very challenging and complex needs. Our behaviour specialists are fully involved in assessing need, setting up personalised packages of support that will really make a difference to a person's life and, alongside specialists from the Quality Team, supporting staff in providing high quality individualised support.

“ I am now so much more independent and staff have been so supportive. ”

Admissions and referrals

At Priory Adult Care, we can offer advice about accessing benefits and funding if appropriate.

We support people on how best to spend an individual budget or direct payment to make sure the people we support can live the life they want.

Referrals can be made through:

- The individual's social services department management team or, if relevant, their local health authority
- By the individual (or an appropriate adult acting on their behalf) who wishes to use direct payment, individual budget, or who is self-financing
